

LUDMILA GORDON

Museum Exhibition Developer and Researcher
Specializing in Cultural and Political History

1 (202) 276 3399

ludmila.gordon@gmail.com

EXPERIENCE

- Interdisciplinary & cross-cultural skill set with over 20 years background in conducting historical, archival, bibliographic, visual research for educational projects and interpretive history museums, including groundbreaking and award-winning exhibitions.

- Extensive experience in coordinating collaborative work throughout various phases of exhibition development: producing scripts, researching subject matter, procuring artifacts, clearing rights, installing display cases, and writing interpretive exhibition texts.

Exhibition Content Developer and Researcher

2010 – 2015
New York, NY

Ralph Appelbaum Associates, Inc., Museum Planning and Design

Developed exhibitions for:

- The Boris Yeltsin Presidential Center, Yekaterinburg, Russia
- The Canadian Museum for Human Rights, Winnipeg, Canada
- The Jewish Museum and Tolerance Center, Moscow, Russia

Library and Archives Associate

1997 – 2006
Washington, DC

Harvard University's Dumbarton Oaks Research Library and Collection

Researcher & Curatorial Specialist

1988 – 1992
Moscow, Russia

Memorial, Historical, Educational, and Human Rights Society

EDUCATION

M.A. in History, Russian State University for the Humanities

M.A. in Archives & Museum Studies (joint degree), Russian State University for the Humanities